The Idaho Department of Fish & Game, the Idaho Department of Health & Welfare, the Idaho Department of Juvenile Corrections, and the Idaho Transportation Department, who have intervened as the State Agency Ground Water Users (SAGWU), by and through their counsel of record, Michael S. Gilmore, Deputy Attorney General, file this Motion for Letter to Authorize Interrogatories to the Canal Companies that Made the Surface Water Coalition Call.

The Director's Scheduling Order of July 22, 2005, paragraph 2(d), p. 2, provided that before serving written Interrogatories on another party, "the proponent of interrogatories must submit to the Director a detailed written explanation of the subject matter to be discovered and must also show that the information cannot be obtained through other sources of information. The Director may consider depositions as another source of information. General interrogatories asking for identification of witnesses, the nature of the witnesses' testimony, and statements of issues for hearing are not acceptable."

The SAGWU move for permission to file the Written Interrogatories attached to this Motion and for the Director to issue a letter allowing their submission to the canal companies that made the Surface Water Coalition call. The SAGWU move for permission to submit these written Interrogatories because the questions posed in them involve often unique ground water rights that may or may not be treated like the irrigation ground water rights that constitute the bulk of the ground water rights that are subject to the Surface Water Coalition call.

Regarding the first two Interrogatories, there are two SAGWU ground water rights that SAGWU believes date back to the late 19th or early 20th century. SAGWU wants to know whether the Surface Water Coalition will be contending that it is entitled to curtail ground water usage for the St. Anthony Juvenile Correction Center or for State Hospital South and/or require mitigation. The importance of maintaining a water supply for these longstanding State institutions cannot be overstated. Although it is theoretically possible that SAGWU could obtain the basic information whether the Petitioners will seek curtailment of these rights or mitigation by noticing a deposition on that subject under Idaho Rule of Civil Procedure 30(b)(6), it seems more efficient and less costly to simply ask the question and not to schedule a deposition if the answer would be nothing more than the canal company(ies) do not contest the priorities and would not seek curtailment of the St. Anthony Juvenile Correction Center's or State Hospital South's ground water rights or mitigation for their water use.

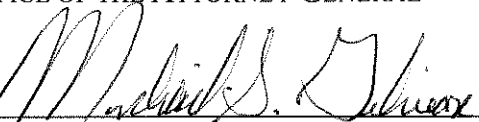

Next, the remaining Interrogatories concern non-irrigation water rights or unusual irrigation rights like drip irrigation for an Interstate Highway windbreak. SAGWU wants to know whether the Surface Water Coalition views these rights as consumptive or depletive water rights similar to ordinary irrigation rights. These rights include domestic rights for a highway rest stop, industrial rights for a maintenance shed, wildlife rights, and drip irrigation rights for a windbreak. As before, it is theoretically possible that SAGWU could obtain the basic information whether the Petitioners will seek curtailment of these rights or mitigation by noticing a deposition on that subject matter under Idaho Rule of Civil Procedure 30(b)(6), but it seems more efficient and less costly to simply ask the question and not schedule a deposition if the answer would be nothing more than the canal company(ies) would not seek curtailment of one or more of these rights or mitigation for their water use.

These Interrogatories do not generally ask for a list of witnesses, but specifically ask for a designation of witnesses who will address the narrow issues defined by the Interrogatories. Thus, the Interrogatory does not run afoul of the Director's prohibition against a "general interrogatory asking for identification of witnesses [and] the nature of their testimony." The Interrogatories are not general, but ask for identification of witnesses for very specific issues, and only if those issues will be contested.
